

The Daily Courant.

Thursday, April 11. 1706.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated April 2.

Rome, March 13.

THE Churches dell' Anima of the German Nation, and that of St. Anthony of the Portuguese, are still kept shut. The Pope persists in his Resolution of having them visited, as well as the other 3 national Churches of St. Lewis of the French, St. James of the Spaniards, and of our Lady of Montserrat, which continue open. On the Arrival of a Courier Yesterday from Spain, there was a Meeting in Cardinal Janfons Palace, at which were present the Cardinal del Giudice, the Ambassador of Spain and the 2 Auditors of the Rota of that Nation. They deliberated about the speediest Means for making up the Differences between this Court and that of Naples; and they approv'd the Expedient propos'd for the joyning of a Prelate of each Nation in Commission with the Persons whom the Pope has nominated to visit the National Churches. Cardinal Janfon has ask'd the Pope's Leave for buying 500 Oxen in the Ecclesiastical State for the French Troops: The Pope has referr'd this Proposition to a Congregation appointed on purpose to take it into Consideration. There will be a Consistory within 3 or 4 Days, but there is no Talk yet of the Promotion of any Cardinals. The new General of the Jesuites having visited and receiv'd the Visits of some Cardinals, in his ordinary Habit, without a Cloak; the other Cardinals have suspended their Visits, pretending he ought to receive them with a Cloak on: But the said Father General alledges in his Excuse the Custom of his Predecessors; who when they waited on the Pope wore a Cloak, but not when they visited any other Person.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated March 30.

Mittau, March 16. The 14th Instant Major General Baur return'd hither with his small Body of Troops, having had an Engagement with a strong Detachment of Swedes. The Action was very sharp; General Duncken who commanded the Swedes was kill'd, with several other Officers and Soldiers: The Muscovites lost a Collonel and 3 Captains; and have brought Prisoners hither a Swedish Lieutenant Collonel and some other Officers.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated April 6.

Cracow, March 17. King Augustus arriv'd here the 12th Instant, accompanied by a great Number of Persons of Quality: He has taken up his Lodging in the Episcopal Palace, and will continue here some Time. The 13th his Majesty was taken up with several Affairs, and in giving private Audiences to the Palatin of Inowroclavia and the Bishop of Chelm. The Castellain of Sandomir arriv'd here that Day, as did also General Fleming and several Saxon Officers who were thought to be Prisoners, but escap'd out of the Battle of Frawstad. The 14th his Majesty gave publick Audience to several Deputies of Palatinats, which had been oblig'd to submit to the Orders of King Stanislaus; whom the Vice-chancellor of the Kingdom acquainted on the Part of his Majesty that he forgave them all that was past. The 15th, pursuant to the Resolution pass'd at Grodno, a Court sat to try those who have not return'd to their Obedience to his Majesty within the Time prescrib'd them; and after some Progress in that Affair, it was put off to the 15th of June next. Yesterday the Magistrates of this City had Audience of his Majesty, and were very favourably receiv'd. The Saxon, Polish, and Muscovite Troops are dispers'd in the Neighbourhood of this City, to guard several Passages for the better Security of his Majesty's Person.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated April 6.

Warsaw, March 23. A Muscovite General, sent from the Czar, is gone through this City to King Augustus at Cracow, to see the Condition and number of the Auxiliary Troops of his Majesty that are drawn together in the Neighbourhood of Cracow, and to concert necessary Measures for entering into Action against the Enemy. His Majesty has likewise written into Saxony, to hasten the march of the Troops he expects from that Electorate. We want 2 Posts from Vilna and Grodno, so that we have no News from the Swedish and Muscovite Armies.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated April 6.

Dresden, March 31. Letters from Poland advise, that General Reinschild has receiv'd Order from the King of Sweden to continue near the Frontiers of this Electorate, to observe the motions of the Saxons; and that he is encamp'd within half a League of Posen. In the mean time some of our Foot that were suppos'd to be kill'd in the Battle of Frawstad, are return'd into our Electorate, so that the number of those we have now in Lusatia is above 4000; besides the Horse, whose number is 5 or 6000. We are getting ready a new Train of Artillery here, of 20 or 24 Field-Pieces, and there are 10 heavy Cannon at Sorau and Guben. A Report was spread that the Estates of this Electorate had sent some Deputies, to Hanover to desire Succour; but 'tis utterly false and groundless, and was rais'd by ill-designing Persons.

Letters from Warsaw of the 27th say the King of Sweden continues encamp'd near Grodno; and that General Rhen was march'd from Grodno with 12000 Muscovites, for the Palatinate of Plosko, thence to proceed to joyn King Augustus at Cracow.

Yarmouth, April 8. Yesterday pass'd through these Roads about 80 Sail of laden Colliers without Convoy; 2 of which struck upon Thorp Nefs to the Northward of Alborough, and therefore put back into these Roads to Day; they are both Ships belonging longing to this Town; one of them receiv'd but little Damage, the other is very leaky and must unlade her Coals here. Here remains Her Majesty Ship the Dunwich, and about 20 Sail of light Colliers and Coasters bound to the Northward.

Harwich, April 9. The Men of War that Convo'y'd the Transports for Holland and arriv'd there on Wednesday, return'd back on Sunday into Oosley Bay. Yesterday the Marling Sloop arriv'd here with a Fleet of Coasters under her Convoy.

Deal, April 9. To Day came down hither her Majesty's Ships the Assistance and Speedwel with several outward bound Ships.
